

ARMY GIVES YALE A CLOSE CONTEST

Cadets' Heralded Forward Pass in Use
But Once When it Wrought Penalty
Upon West Point.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 17.—Yale came to West Point this afternoon with a crippled football team and left tonight victorious. The score 6 to 0, tells the story of the cadets' downfall. Except for a few minutes in the first half Yale's goal was never in danger.

Old Tactics for Yale.
It was the Yale fullbacks consistent punting and plunging that was responsible for the visitors' victory. Yale relied solely on old fashioned football. She attempted no on-side kicks, no forward passes and but one double pass from a punt formation. This, however, failed to gain.

Forward Pass Ineffective.
West Point made two pretty gains on on-side kicks, one of thirty-five yards. Her much heralded forward pass, however was in evidence but once, and then it nearly cost a touchdown. Dean had hurled the ball cleanly thirty yards to a waiting West Pointer, but Goebel, the big Yale kick, jumping high in the air, blocked the revolving pigskin.

Nadie, his team mate, picked it up and raced forty yards for what seemed a touchdown. However, the referee had blown his whistle for an offside play by the cadets, who were given the choice of accepting a five yard penalty or allowing the touchdown.

Army Takes the Penalty.
They took the penalty and Yale lost the score.

Captain Burch, the big lineman Conney and Hobbs and Logan were out of the New Haven eleven lineup owing to injuries.

Considering the excessive heat, substitutions were scarce and there was only one injury. Chamberlin, the cadets' fullback, who suffered a fractured collar bone.

The game was witnessed by 10,000 people.

home eleven showed a complete reversal of form, winning out by the score of 10 to 4.

E. R. Hodgson's long punts kept Princeton continuously on the defensive in the first half, and his goal from placement from the 25 yard line surprised the home players for it was the first score against them this year.

Princeton Braced in Second.

In the second period, Princeton braced wonderfully and within two minutes after play started and after a succession of line plays, scored a touchdown.

Cunningham followed it up later with a goal from the field.

The visitors had a heavy team and Princeton gained very little through their line until the latter part of the second half, when the Virginians weakened.

It was not football weather and only 15 minutes halves were played.

keeping the ball in Virginia's terri-to almost constantly.

Sweeney carried the ball across

Virginia's goal line, but the runner went outside by a few inches, and the goal didn't count.

While Virginia's team work was excelled by the Tennesseans, the individual playing of several of the Virginia boys was a feature of the game.
